EXECUTIVE SECRETARY OF THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNAE OF BARNARD COLLEGE.

We take great pleasure in announcing to the alumnae that an executive secretary of our association has been chosen—Miss Katherine Van Horne, '00. The association has long felt the need of such an officer. We wish Miss Van Horne success in her new duties.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT, MISS CLARE M. HOWARD.

To the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College:

Your President has the honor to submit the following report:

Your President presided at all meetings of the Board of Directors, at the Alumnae Luncheon in January, and attended Alumnae Day in February, 1917.

In accordance with the provisions of the Membership Corporation Law your President filed her annual statistical report with the County Clerk.

Five committee appointments made by your President were ratified by the Board of Directors, and one resignation accepted.

As authorized by the Board of Directors, your President appointed a special committee of three—Miss Helen Erskine '04, Miss Lillian Schoedler '11 and Miss Agnes Burke '11 to confer with Miss Sarah Butler '15, the alumna editor of the "Barnard Bulletin" with a view to stimulating alumnae interest in the "Bulletin" and to increasing alumnae material in it.

As your representative your President appointed a committee of seven to discover ways and means of procuring a Barnard Farm where parties of alumnae and undergraduates might meet for week-ends. This committee consisted of Miss K. Gay '11, Chairman; Miss Mary Pullman '93, Miss Theodora Baldwin '00, Mrs. Hugh Lowther '12, Miss I. Ochs '14, Miss Jean Moehle, Associate Member, and Mrs. Francis Geer '15. In October, 1917, Miss Gay resigned the chairmanship and Miss Susan Minor '12 was appointed in her place.

As your representative your President appointed a committee of seven to arrange an alumnae play to raise money for the Barnard Farm. Miss M. Schorr '14 was chairman of this committee; the other members were Miss K. Gay '11, Miss C. Straiton '12, Miss E. Macauley '14, Miss I. Ochs '14, Miss Ray Levi '15, and Miss M. Pollitzer '15.

As your representative your President responded to the appeal of the Women's Christian College of Madras, one of the two colleges for the 170,000,000 women in India, a college which since the outbreak of the war has suffered from the lack of contributions to its running expenses. With the aid of Mrs. Mary Hall Bates '02, your President raised $200 in voluntary contributions to the Madras College, which was gratefully received.

Your President represented the Alumnae of Barnard in the Central Committee on Women's Work in the mobilization of Columbia University; a committee which in March registered all alumnae volunteers for war service and established an Information Bureau of which Miss Virginia Newcomb '00 was appointed Executive Secretary. The Central Committee for Women's War Relief Work likewise procured the coöperation of Miss Carita Spencer '02 in starting a work-shop at Barnard for the making of surgical dressings. This work-shop has now been established as Auxiliary No. 203 of the American Red Cross.

Your President represented the alumnae of Barnard in organizing aid to the Red Cross by means of speakers to explain and describe the work of the Red Cross to schools, societies, churches, and other organizations. Mrs. F. B.

Thurber '95, Mrs. G. Endicott '00 and Miss Helen Dana '13 enlisted for this task.

As your representative your President attended the meetings of the Women's Committee for the First Liberty Loan and enlisted Mrs. F. Van de Water '09, Mrs. Francis Geer '15 and Miss Estelle O'Brien '16 to form a Barnard unit for the sale of the bonds. During June this unit sold bonds at McCreery's store, earning much commendation from the Liberty Loan Committee and also from McCreery's.

In July, your President represented the Barnard Alumnae at the farewell luncheon given at the Women's University Club to the Smith College Relief Unit, the first unit from a woman's college to embark for France to do reconstruction work.

As your representative your President this October has appointed another committee for the sale of Liberty Loan bonds consisting of Miss Estelle O'Brien '16, Chairman, Miss Alice O'Gorman '11, Mrs. Jeanette Unger Canda '14, Miss Grace Coffin '14, Mrs. Francis Geer '15, Miss Margaret Meyer '15, Miss Helen Blumenthal '15, Mrs. Alene Stern Erlanger '13, Miss Christine Robb '17, Miss Cornelia Geer '17, Miss Mary Mulqueen '12, Miss Pamela Poor '12, and Mrs. Austin Townsend.

It is to be hoped that the coming year will further unite the alumnae, by drawing them together for war-work of some sort. It is primarily important that all alumnae of Barnard should keep the offer of their special or skilled services for the nation on file with Miss Virginia Newcomb '00, Secretary of the Committee on Women's War Work at Columbia University. Further, it would be pleasant and profitable if alumnae would join the undergraduates in the Red Cross workroom at Barnard, Room 403. This room is open from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 5 daily, except Saturdays and Sundays. In Room 208 is the knitting headquarters. The President of the Undergraduate Association extends a cordial invitation to all alumnae to frequent these workrooms, and she will arrange a special day of the week for alumnae, if the alumnae so wish. Such a form of reunion seems most fitting this year.

More ambitious plans for war service will doubtless be made by many of our members. Perhaps Barnard might also send abroad a unit of alumnae for reconstruction work in France. According to Miss Anne Morgan, just returned from service of that sort, much can be done outside of doctoring and nursing. We know that whatever is undertaken by Barnard alumnae is put through with solid success. Your President hopes, therefore, that wherever you set your hand to a task, you make it known that you are a Barnard graduate, so that your achievements may be a glory to us all, and make some return to the college which developed your ability.

To the alumnae committee who by their energy have made light the task of your President, to the Dean, the Faculty and Officers of the College, your President wishes to express sincere thanks for their helpful coöperation.

REPORT OF BARNARD LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE.

The Barnard Liberty Loan Committee was established at the request of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee for the purpose of having Barnard alumnae assist in the sale of the Second Liberty Loan.

Its members were assigned to three booths—at the St. Regis Hotel, at James McCreery and Co., and at Arnold Constable and Co.

At the request of this committee Mr. John McCormack offered his services as salesman on Monday, October the twenty-second, at McCreery's. He also offered a Victor Record (autographed) of the "Star Spangled Banner" sung by himself. The amount raised by Mr. McCormack certainly adds lustre to the financial report. The total sales of the committee at McCreery's is omitted because the store wishes it to remain undisclosed for the present.

The following financial returns give but a slight insight into the work of the committee as it expects to be doing its largest business while this report is being offered to the Alumnae Association. The amounts subscribed are as follows:

St. Regis Hotel	$100,000
Arnold Constable and Co.	135,000
John McCormack Day at James McCreery's	131,900
Amount collected outside the booths	4,100
Amount collected in submarine in Central Park	5,000
Total	<hr/> $376,000

REPORT OF THE BARNARD REPRESENTATIVE ON THE INTERCOLLEGIATE COMMITTEE OF ALUMNAE OF NEW YORK FOR THE COLLEGE SETTLEMENTS ASSOCIATION.

The purpose of the committee, when first formed in the spring of 1916, was to serve as a bureau of information, or clearing house, for all college graduates in the city who might be able to give part of their time to help in carrying on the regular settlement activities or to contribute energy toward a campaign to arouse a wider community support for the New York College Settlement, especially among the bodies of alumnae in the city whose colleges have undergraduates and alumnae chapters of the College Settlements Association.

The committee immediately planned a bazaar, the proceeds of which were to go to swell the general expense fund, which, as a natural result of the prolonged war situation, was greatly depleted through decreased contributions and increased needs and expenses. Mr. Palmer of the Palmer Real Estate Company gave us the use of a temporarily vacant store at 37 West 37th Street for the week of November 20th, 1916. Different colleges took charge on different days. By sales of copper and brass, pottery, linen, novelties, cake and candy, and by serving luncheon and tea every day, in spite of the handicap of several days of bad weather and the rival Saturday attraction of an Army-Navy football game, we netted a profit of $1,075.77. This year another bazaar is to be held.

The most interesting item to report has least connection with our local college settlement, but should be of greatest concern to socially minded college women. Ever since, nearly thirty years ago, a small group of young college women went down to Rivington Street, to demonstrate the settlement idea, and opened a neighborhood house, the first of its kind in the country, the double function of the College Settlements Association has been to establish and maintain settlements, where they are badly needed, and to stimulate undergraduates to a keener sense of social justice and social responsibility. The success of the first object has been conclusively proved by the city's including in municipal departments activities that were launched at the settlement as experiments; for the first public baths, the first public playgrounds, and the first supervised dance hall were offered by the settlement. The second object of the association is now bearing fruit. Growing numbers of college women, mindful of the public interest and their own social responsibility, have called upon college women everywhere to join them as pioneers in a still broader field. It was the experience of many, when they returned from college to the town where they lived, to find that some civic or social organization was very much needed by the community; but, in most cases, just what that should be or how it should be brought about was so difficult to determine that without experience or influential backing it was too problematic a matter to undertake. The local settlements have had urgent requests from large manufacturing establishments to make a survey of their plants and tell them what form of social activity was most needed to solve their social problems; but the settlements, of course, are too short handed to permit of such a departure from their regular work. In brief, evidence accumulated to show the crying need of a clearing house for community service, and last spring, at the annual meeting of the College Settlements Association, it was voted to widen the scope of the old organization and to be known henceforth as the Intercollegiate Community Service Association. We add to our original objects, first "the promotion of further community undertakings in cities, towns, and rural districts" and secondly, a definite linking up with other social organizations. For this last we are already somewhat prepared by the make up of our enlarged standing committee and advisory board, which numbers among its members Dr. Susan M. Kingsbury, president of the Association, and head of the Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Research of Bryn Mawr College, Miss Eva M. White of Peabody House and expert on the question of the extended use of the school buildings, Mrs. Helen Glenn Tyson, Supervisor on the State Board of Education, Pennsylvania, Miss Lillian Wald of the Henry Street Settlement, Mrs. Florence Kelly of the Consumers' League, Miss Byington of the American Association of Societies for Organizing Charity, and Mrs. John B. Andrews of the American Association Labor Legislation. For the promotion of community welfare work in whatever city, town, or rural district from which the call may come, we need a first class executive secretary, trained for such expert survey and organization work.

That we may begin, very soon, the work of social reconstruction that comes within our scope and that would be overwhelming if left for readjustment until after the war, the Intercollegiate Community Service Association appeals to the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College for a vigorous, immediate support of its broadened policy.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE TO EXTEND THE ALUMNAE DEPARTMENT OF "THE BULLETIN."

The committee began its work in November, 1916, and had a meeting with the editor-in-chief and business manager of the "Bulletin." The members of the alumnae committee were Mrs. Raleigh Hanal '09, Agnes Burke '11, Lillian Schoedler '11, and Sarah Butler '15. Mrs. Hanal was unable to serve, and Helen Erskine '04 was appointed in her place.

The financial condition of the "Bulletin" made it impossible to do all that we had hoped, as it was necessary to pay the "Bulletin" every time that the alumnae department made an eight page issue necessary. Finally the committee decided to send out a copy of the "Bulletin" to every graduate of Barnard College. Thirty dollars was appropriated by the Associate Alumnae to cover the expenses of this issue. Meanwhile every attempt was made to arouse the interest of the alumnae. Finally on January 18th a special alumnae page with a full account of the alumnae luncheon was prepared for the issue of that week, and a copy of the "Bulletin" together with a slip asking for information and a return envelope was sent to each of our graduates. About 1600 were sent out. We received nearly 400 slips with information about the activities of our alumnae but only 20 subscriptions. This was all the more discouraging as it had been necessary to spend $79 to send out the "Bulletin" instead of the $30 appropriated by the alumnae. Fortunately an anonymous friend made up the difference.

After this the finances of the "Bulletin" became worse, and they were unable to give much space to the alumnae department. The lack of alumnae support made it impossible to pay for space, and therefore we have printed only a few items weekly. Although many of the alumnae to whom the "Bulletin" was sent wrote to say how much they enjoyed reading it, there were practically no subscriptions.

Some people told us that they would be glad to subscribe if they could afford it, but a majority were quite indifferent. The total number of alumnae subscribers is now 77 and it is a question whether it is worth while to continue the alumnae department unless we have more support.

REPORT OF THE BARNARD FARM COMMITTEE.

Chairmanship.

Upon the resignation in September, 1917, of Katharine Gay as chairman of the committee, the president of the Associate Alumnae appointed Susan Minor, chairman.

Farm Property.

In September, 1917, the Women's Agricultural Camp at Bedford, N. Y., offered to the Barnard Farm Committee the use of the farm house and its equipment free of charge from the early part of October until it should again be needed by the Women's Agricultural Camp. Although the Farm Committee had voted to suspend house parties for the duration of the war, it was deemed advisable to take advantage of this exceptional opportunity.

Publicity.

Over a hundred and twenty-five postals were sent out to alumnae notifying them that the farm was at their disposal for week-end house parties, the undergraduates were addressed in a meeting, a poster was hung at College, and a notice was printed in the "Bulletin."

House Parties.

Owing, probably, to the necessarily short notice given, it was impossible to get up a house party before October 19-21. So far the farm has been well patronized by undergraduates and recent alumnae and faculty, all of whom have expressed satisfaction with the place and with the scheme.

Because of the difficulty in heating the house, it is deemed inadvisable to continue the parties after the end of November.

Service.

It was urgently requested by the Dean of the Women's Agricultural Camp that the Farm Committee keep a care taker in the house during the entire time it might be in the hands of the committee.

Accordingly, on October 19 two women were installed as care takers and cooks. They left October 29, and the committee, having been unable to find anyone to take their place, closed the house. It was opened again on November 2 for a house party for which an undergraduate and a recent graduate did the cooking. On November 5 two other women were installed as care takers and cooks.

Aim.

The Farm Committee hopes that the farm will stimulate interclass friendships in college and the association of alumnae and undergraduates and give that opportunity for intimate social relations which Barnard, as a nonresidential college, lacks.

Finances.

Receipts.

For board $1.50 a day is charged.

In addition to this it was considered necessary by the committee to have a sinking fund of not less than $100. to pay for any necessary equipment and to meet a possible deficit in the running expenses. The following contributions have been made.

Associate Alumnae	$ 25.00
Undergraduate Association	25.00
Class of 1911	15.00
Class of 1915	25.00
Each Class in College $5	20.00
An individual	25.00

Total$135.00

Expenses.

The bills to be met are for food, coal, kerosene, ice, laundry, carfare, telephone service, stationery, postage, and equipment. The equipment bought to date consists of candle sticks, mirrors, wastebaskets, door fastenings, and coal scuttle, totaling, all of them, $2.43, and a stove which, including work, will cost about $38.00.

Judging from the expenses to date, the Farm Committee hopes that, unless the patronage of the farm declines, the farm will be able nearly, if not quite, to pay for itself exclusive of equipment.

REPORT OF THE COOPERATIVE DORMITORY COMMITTEE.

The Coöperative Dormitory was opened in October, 1916, occupying two apartments at 99 Claremont Ave., and housing fifteen students and a cook. The task of social management was undertaken by Dr. Ida H. Ogilvie, a member of the Faculty who lives near by, and Miss Jean Moehle, who lives with Dr. Ogilvie, was made house secretary.

On November 17, a tea was given by the Associate Alumnae at the dormitory to which Trustees, Faculty, Alumnae Council, and Directors were invited. This served as the official installation of the dormitory.

Management.

In February, both Dr. Ogilvie and Miss Moehle reported that a resident manager was advisable. At this time a room became vacant because two girls had been obliged to leave. The present chairman assumed the role of temporary manager, taking up her residence at the dormitory for the spring term. This fall a permanent manager was installed in the person of Miss Alice Waller, an alumna of Barnard and an officer of instruction in the college.

Students.

The number of students at the dormitory was reduced in February to thirteen through the installation of a manager. Applications for the year 1917-1918 were numerous and much in excess of the capacity of the house. The thirteen former residents desired to return; only ten were permitted to do so. Three new girls were admitted, two of whom are Freshmen and one is a Sophomore. The students are representative of the south, the middle west, New Jersey, and New York State.

Social.

The plan of housing a small group of students has proved to be an admirable one. They have developed a fine spirit of coöperation and surprising efficiency in house management. The assumption of responsibility seems to be welcomed rather than shunned. Excellent hostesses are in the making and the shy and awkward Freshman bids fair to develop into a far more proficient woman through her association with the Coöperative Dormitory.

Financial.

The initial cost of equipment was estimated in Mrs. Boyle's report of last year at $1,883.68. The final figures, however, show an added expenditure of $137.57, making a total expenditure of $2,021.25.

Mrs. Stacey states in her report for the year that the total receipts were $4,439.59 and the total expenditure $4,287.24, leaving a final balance of $152.35.

The charge of $275.00 a year for students was deemed inadequate for 1917-1918. Accordingly an added tax of $30.00 was asked this year to meet the higher cost of food, the increased salary of the cook and the maintenance of a manager.

In view of the financial and social success of the dormitory experiment, the committee drafted a report for the Trustees of Barnard College embodying the foregoing facts and the following suggestions.

Suggestions.

That Barnard College look to the continuance and extension of this experiment at the expiration of the two years, recognizing the value of the coöperative plan of working with small groups.

Further, that the support and coöperation of the Trustees be earnestly requested in the continuance and extension of the Coöperative Dormitory, and that they again act as sponsors for the rental of quarters sufficient to house forty students, and provide for the furnishings of the enlarged quarters and for the services of an efficient manager.

The hope of the committee is that a large building or group of small buildings will eventually be erected in order that the family or small group idea may be developed. Although this hope cannot be realized in the immediate future, yet the committee feels that having proved the dormitory of the type under discussion to be feasible, desirable, and much needed, they are justified in presenting an urgent plea for its continuance and for its extension.

The Alumnae Association has given generously of its time and of its funds for the installation and management of the dormitory. It would deplore its discontinuance at the end of the two years' period. Again the committee stands ready and eager to continue its supervision of a work which it considers progressive and productive of better social and economic conditions among the students, provided it has the sustained coöperation of the trustees.

REPORT OF THE I. B. O.

The Barnard Directors of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations beg to report as follows:

The Bureau in August moved into new quarters at 19 W. 44th Street, and on October first Miss Emelie Hutchinson assumed full charge of the management. Miss Hutchinson, fortunately, has not had to discontinue all her courses at the college but retains her connection with the University as Special Lecturer instead of Instructor. This double connection enables her to gather at first hand new material for her course "Women in Gainful Occupations" in an executive post where she directs the work of placing women in such positions and gives to the Bureau a direct link between the colleges and the wage-earning world.

During the summer months Miss Emma P. Hirth, who has been associated with the Bureau almost from its earliest days, acted as manager and directed the extensive task of moving and reorganizing the entire system of handling applicants and employers. She succeeded in the seemingly impossible task of handling more cases than ever before with a reduced staff and put into practice various other similar, practical economies.

During the summer the Bureau has registered some of the most promising candidates who have ever applied and has filled an unusually large number of high salaried positions. The Bureau is handling fewer routine stenographic positions, preferring to turn them over to the regular commercial bureaus, of which there are several, quite satisfactory, in New York, and is, instead, deliberately seeking more than ever before the higher grade, more interesting, more unusual positions for the women who register there.

Released from her duties as Acting Manager, Miss Hirth is again resuming the direction of the Information Department. She is collecting what promises to be the most complete collection of facts concerning vocations for women in this country. In order to keep this information elastic with the changes of the times, it is kept in card-index form where it is easily available for quick reference and for leisurely browsing. The usefulness of this department has been variously demonstrated but not more strikingly than by the fact that it has been used as a laboratory by advisers of women in schools and colleges whose duties include the giving of vocational advice. The work they did included studying the vocational material now on file, interviewing, and listening to interviews in the effort to obtain a better background for giving vocational advice. Two or three of the colleges are organizing their own vocational material on the lines worked out in the Information Department and are urging the closest coöperation in the study it is making. It may be desirable in the near future to work in coöperation with some nearby university so that women who are taking courses in vocational counselling may secure practical experience in interviewing and field work under the supervision of the Bureau.

Another noteworthy accomplishment of this Department is the securing of a $10,000 scholarship in Industrial Chemistry as the result of the striking information which was gathered from industrial chemists and the interpretation of the Bureau's efforts to place women in this field. The scholarship is to be given at Smith College. The need for training for women in this subject is evidently widespread and the expansion of scientific equipment in women's colleges will respond to this need.

In view then, of the ever-widening scope of activities of the Bureau, the increased efficiency of its methods, its demonstrated ability to represent the best interests of college graduates in the business world, the Barnard Directors of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations recommend to the Associate Alumnae that it continue to pay the annual organization membership dues of $25, and urges every member of the association to become or remain a member of the Bureau by paying the yearly dues of a dollar, thereby supporting a work whose importance is greatly intensified and increased by war-time conditions which cannot be neglected if the economic advancement of women is to be safeguarded.
